

The restaurants at the Kempinski Hotel Das Tirol could not be more different, but the Steinberg and the Sra Bua do have a lot in common. The classic mountain restaurant and the Euro-Asian establishment are built on the same foundations: delicious, fresh ingredients that are regionally sourced wherever possible.

The day begins with the hearty breakfast buffet. In the evening, there is the agony of choice: classic European regional meals or Euro-Asian taste sensations? “The Steinberg Restaurant serves up classics with a light and regional flair”, says head chef Caspar Bork. Alternatively, the guests can seek out far-flung worlds of flavour featuring exotic herbs, seasonings and vegetables carefully prepared according to Asian cooking methods. “Tirol meets Asia”, as the motto of the Sra Bua puts it.
