Top tennis players visit Kitzbühel

The promising list of starters for this year's Generali Open Kitzbühel boasts an attractive and international line-up. At the same time, the top-class field of participants sets high expectations. As many as four clay court players from the top 25 ranking of the ATP World Tour are to be mentioned as crowd pullers right at the top of the entry list. Among them even a Top 5 player, namely last year's winner in the singles, Caspar Ruud. So the Norwegian wants to defend his title again this year. In addition, the 26-year-old Italian Matteo Berrettini, who is number 15 in the world rankings, has announced his participation. He will be closely followed by the number 20, the Spaniard Roberto Bautista Agut, who will also be taking part again, as well as the French tennis professional Gael Monfils. Furthermore, local hero Dominic Thiem will also provide the numerous cheering spectators with sporting entertainment during the matches. The first-round appearance of Austrian tennis star Dominic Thiem has already been scheduled. The match will be played on Tuesday, July 26th, 2022 in the night session at 7.30 pm under floodlights.
