Description

A particularly exciting variant on the Hahnenkamm leads via Rechegg. The start takes place at the mountain station and it goes towards Hausbergertal. We keep to the right until we come to a gravel road after a few hundred meters of asphalt. From there, continue straight ahead until a signpost leads to Einsiedele / Hahnenkamm. From there on it goes over dreamlike trails. We always follow the signs to Rechegg. At a turn, you can refresh yourself with fresh Hahnenkamm spring water at a trough. The second part is technically a bit more demanding and you should already be sure-footed. But it pays off, because this trail is really an insider tip. The destination of the trail is Hochkitzbühel and the start house of the Streif. About that you can then run down, or choose the gondola.
